Baritone Shea Owens brings a range of international experience to tonight’s concert. He has been a member of the ensemble at Theater St. Gallen in Switzerland, where his roles included Belcore in L’elisir d’amore, Marcello in La bohème, Valentin in Faust, and Alvaro in Catán’s Florencia en el Amazonas, among others.

On the concert stage, he has sung Mahler’s Lieder eines fahrenden Gesellen and Cimarosa’s Il maestro di cappella with the Sinfonieorchester St. Gallen. He played the role of Colonel Ricci in Sondheim’s Passion at the Théâtre du Châtelet and joined the orchestra at the Grand Théâtre de Genève in concerts of popular repertoire.

Audiences in Utah have recently enjoyed Mr. Owens’s performance as the title role in Mendelssohn’s Elijah with the Brigham Young University choirs at the Cathedral of the Madeleine. This season he also played the role of Samuel in The Pirates of Penzance.

In addition to his traditional operatic and concert work, Mr. Owens especially enjoys the challenge and novelty of interpreting the works of contemporary composers. Notably, he played the role of Charlie in Jake Heggie’s Three Decembers alongside legendary mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade.

As a complement to his professional singing career, Mr. Owens recently joined the faculty at Brigham Young University as director of opera in the School of Music. He is a native of Arizona and is married to highly-regarded soprano Madison Leonard. They are the parents of a new baby boy.
